To Whom It May Concern

Reference: Brad Friis

Brad has been employed by MySimpleSiteMan Ltd from early 2006 until the current time. His roles varied but were initially relating to web development and software research and after the development phase was completed he undertook a sales role.

The software development involved extensive research relating to database and website content management systems. Through this period of development Brad was a key person in the business process modelling and later complemented the development process by managing the loading of the database content.

He has been the sole sales person within the business and has successfully provided the production team with an abundance of work. His success was partly due to his previous very good client relationships from a previous role but also in his ability to identify prospective client's needs and on a high number of occasions complete a sale.

Brad's strengths are in sales and he is an asset to our organization in that role. He is not afraid to prospect and cold call and has enjoyed a very high success rate. He also understands the value of client relationships and the level of service required to maintain those relationships. He can work independently and is able to follow through to ensure that the job gets done. Brad has contributed in other parts of the business during his sales role that has involved collating client information, writing proposals, developing sales strategies etc.

While we would be sorry to lose him I would recommend Brad for any role that involves sales and business development.

If I can be of any further assistance, or provide you with any further information, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Yours Sincerely,

Trevor Friis

General Manager
