

Brad Friis

Senior B2B SaaS Account Executive & Revenue Growth Specialist

A high-performing Account Manager is equal parts commercial strategist, creative problem solver, and trusted advisor. Throughout a career built on navigating high-stakes customer relationships, I specialize in uncovering hidden revenue opportunities, translating complex technology into clear commercial value, and designing custom solutions that make clients wonder how they ever operated without them.

THE CORE TOOLKIT: STRATEGIC ACCOUNT LEADERSHIP

Combining human-first empathy with executive commercial execution to drive Net Retention Rate (NRR) and lifetime value:

1. Opportunity Spotting & Commercial Design

Diagnosing latent operational friction and packaging custom, advance-billed service offerings (e.g., transforming unbilled support drain into a $40k–$50k recurring revenue stream).

2. Human Alignment & Executive Engagement

Engaging stakeholders through active listening (LAER framework). Turning platform skeptics into champions and protecting enterprise accounts through 1-on-1 diagnostic immersion.

3. Creative Problem Solving & Turnarounds

Deploying directly on-site to reverse active defection risks (e.g., a 5-campus client turnaround expanded into a 6th campus rollout and two new recurring contracts).

4. Applied AI & Modern Enablement

Leveraging a dedicated year of AI app development (Claude, ChatGPT, Supabase, Vercel) to build practical tools—from competitive scrapers to custom BI dashboards—for client teams.

STRATEGIC IMPACT & SOLUTION ARCHITECTURE

Strategic Account Defense · 108 Diagnostic Calls · 0% Churn

Case 01: Deep Account Diagnostics & Crisis Retention (2020)

COMMERCIAL EXECUTION: Active listening and clear stakeholder communication protecting an entire enterprise portfolio.

Faced with widespread market uncertainty, generic broadcast communications were replaced with direct diagnostic engagement. I conducted 108 individual 1-on-1 video sessions across the portfolio to map exact operational pain points.

When a key stakeholder expressed severe frustration, I used the LAER framework to isolate specific workflow roadblocks rather than defend product features. By creatively re-engineering her team's configuration on the spot, she transitioned from a defection risk into an active internal sponsor.

Outcome: Zero account churn across the entire enterprise book during peak market volatility.

Creative Opportunity Spotting · On-Site Intervention · Multi-Site Expansion

Case 02: Turning Enterprise Defection into Multi-Product Expansion

COMMERCIAL EXECUTION: On-ground immersion revealing hidden value gaps to secure long-term NRR growth.

An enterprise client across five locations was preparing to migrate to a competitor. Instead of competing on price discounts, I spent five days on-site observing frontline operations alongside administrative leads and executives.

The diagnostic revealed that the threat was driven by fragmented adoption and lack of ongoing enablement. I designed an account-wide enablement strategy and delivered tailored leadership workshops, demonstrating clear operational ROI.

Outcome: Account saved mid-defection, expanded to a 6th enterprise location, and upgraded with two new recurring revenue streams: paid advisory and an annual managed service contract.

Case 03: The Modern AM Advantage: Full-Stack & AI Problem Solving

COMMERCIAL EXECUTION: Stepping off the treadmill to build technical tools that directly eliminate client friction.

To stay ahead of technology shifts, I dedicated a year to mastering modern AI system architecture, LLM fine-tuning, and full-stack app deployment. Rather than theoretical study, I built working applications: an operational BI dashboard for a commercial design firm, an automated supermarket competitive pricing scraper, custom market playbook generators, an AI copy humanizer, and interactive workflow tools using Supabase, Vercel, Netlify, Claude, Gemini, Grok, and Base44.

Outcome: I offer SaaS leadership a unique Account Executive who can speak high-level business strategy with executives and immediately prototype practical technical workflows to make software stick.
